BISHOPS OF LONDON

WHILE unwilling to disturb any one of the existing lists of Bishops, which rest on no less authority than that of Godwin and Le Neve, the following extract from The Church Times of 26th February, 1892, is of such interest that the list which it contains is well worthy of a place side by side with the list now in type.

It is much to be wished that in every parish church tablets recording important points of the history of the churches, lists of vicars, churchwardens, &c., in accordance with the recommendation of the Archbishop of Canterbury, should be placed so as to perpetuate and familiarize the inhabitants with some of the great facts of days long past, with which, nevertheless, the present time is more closely linked than is generally known.

NEW TABLETS IN ST. PAUL'S.

THE BISHOPS OF LONDON.

THE Dean and Chapter of St. Paul's Cathedral have decided to set up four new tablets in enumeration and commemoration of the Bishops of London from the earliest days of the English Church. Primarily (the Daily Graphic says) this step is the realized desire of the Archbishop of Canterbury, who has frequently urged the advisability of placing permanent records in churches generally, in order to preserve the continuity of, and as the simplest way of teaching, the Church's history.

The first two tablets have been placed at the east end of the south aisle, close by the entrance to the Whispering Gallery, and not far from the monument to the memory of Captain George B. Westcott, who fell in 1798 at Aboukir Bay. The tablets are uniform in design, which is severely plain, in order not to interfere with any future style of decoration. The material is white alabaster of fine quality, to obtain single pieces of which of the required size has been somewhat difficult. The following twenty-nine names on the first tablet enumerate the prelates of the Anglo-Saxon period, out of a total list of 120 Bishops up to the present time.

The compilation of this list has been chiefly in the hands of the Bishop of Bristol in conjunction with the Bishop of Oxford and other experts. The Bishop of Bristol was at very great pains to make the roll complete and accurate, the chief difficulty having been the correct spelling of the names, the deeds from which they have been copied being mostly the work of Norman scribes with a limited knowledge of Saxon nomenclature. The dates, too, have in some cases been difficult, and in one or two impossible to determine, but the list may be now accepted as authentic. Every name that figures therein represents an ecclesiastic whose personality has been established; even the earliest—Restitutus—is known to have attended a Church Council at Arles, in the South of France. Three names which have hitherto been accepted as authentic are now entirely rejected, while, on the other hand, St. Dunstan is included. It has for the first time been established that he was actually an appointed Bishop of London, though hitherto he was only known to have had charge of the diocese.

The hiatus between the first two names on the list represents the interregnum between the days of the early British Church and the coming of Augustine, with whom came Mellitus, the second name, in 596. A further interregnum immediately follows, Mellitus having been expelled by the King's sons because he would not administer the Holy Communion to them unless they were first baptised, the bishopric not being restored until the coming of Cedd.

NOTE.—The See is first called 'CIVITAS MUNIUENSIS' by Gildas the Historian, in the time of St. David. The name MENEUIA is the Roman form and does not exist prior to A.D. 840, and was not locally adopted in the Records until over a century afterwards when MUNIU becomes MENEUIA. All forms are corrupted usages from MUNIIUDDEWIG and MUNIIUDÆORUM.

THE CORRECT FORMS OF THE OLD TITLES.

(a) Patriarchs of Prydain Celtaidd, Archbishops at Caerleon.
(b) Patriarchs of Venedotia, Archbishops at Munijuddewig (577–c. 800).
(c) Exarchs of Gwyndud, Archbishops at Muniu (c. 800–840).
(d) Archbishops of Meneuia, Primates of Wales (841–911).
(e) Prelate Metropolitan of Meneuia (912–1055).
(f) Bishops of Meneuia (1055–1114).
(g) Bishop Suffragan of Meneuia (1115–1131).
(h) Bishops of Saint David's (1131—the present).

'The best book of carols in existence.'—The Daily Mail.

THE
OXFORD BOOK OF CAROLS

By PERCY DEARMER, R. VAUGHAN WILLIAMS AND MARTIN SHAW

This Book is intended for the general student of carols, for whom a full preface and historical notes are provided. It is also a practical book for the church and concert hall as for the home and the waits outside. Editions are therefore provided in three forms:

Music Edition, complete, 6s. net.
Complete Words Edition, 4s. 6d. net.
Cheap Edition without music or notes. Cloth, 1s. 6d. net; paper cover, 1s. net.

There are over 200 carols in the book (including second and third parts and tunes). All the old tunes are included, as well as several modern carols, specially written for this collection. Many of the carols may be obtained separately with the music. A list of these and a prospectus will be sent on application.

OXFORD CHURCH MUSIC

Upon a splendid foundation the OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS has recently built a new catalogue of church music. While maintaining the highest standards, the OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS looks forward rather than back, and aims at a finer type of music for church use than hitherto has been sufficiently available. Some of the recent publications are described below, and a full catalogue may be had on application.

R. VAUGHAN WILLIAMS. Te Deum. (Written for the Enthronement of the Archbishop of Canterbury, December 1928)	6d.
ALAN GRAY. Communion Service in G	1s.
HEALEY WILLAN. Missa de Sancta Maria Magdalena	1s.
PERCY WHITLOCK. Communion Service	1s.
C. HYLTON STEWART. A Short and Easy Communion Service	1s.
J. H. ARNOLD (Edited by). Merbecke's Communion Service. With adaptations for the Alternative Communion Service of 1928	9d.
The People's Nicene Creed	9d.

Modern Anthems

THE ST. JOHN'S FOUNDATION SCHOOL

LEATHERHEAD, SURREY

Incorporated by Royal Charter, 1922

Visitor: HIS GRACE THE LORD ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY

The School was established in 1851 for the education and maintenance of the Sons of the Poorer Clergy

Annual Subscriptions and Donations are Urgently Needed

The need for the School is greater to-day than ever it was. There are on an average 25 candidates each half-yearly Election for the Free Foundation; but increased cost of maintenance makes it difficult for the Council to carry on the work of the School.

The ideal should be a living wage for the Clergy so that they can meet the responsibility of feeding, clothing, and educating their children. Till that ideal, not now in sight, is reached, St. John's is a real boon to the poorer Clergy, promoting the efficiency of the Ministers of the Church by relieving parents of the anxiety of educating their sons and at the same time fitting the boys for the battle of life.

Clergy are particularly asked to help the work of the School:—

(a) By allowing its cause to be pleaded in their Churches. (The Secretary will be very pleased to arrange for a special preacher to be sent.)

(b) By sending a grant from their Church Funds. (Any sum, however small, will be greatly appreciated.)

Rev. R. S. SWANN-MASON, O.B.E., M.A., Secretary.

INDEX OF INCUMBENCIES AND MISSION CHARGES

IN the Scottish Church all whose names appear in the fourth column are, with the exception noted immediately below, "Rectors," that is to say, permanent Incumbents, the description being restricted, by Canon, to those who are "instituted", and who are therefore, qualified for the receipt of the Equal Dividend.

In the case of Missions, the Classification under the Code of Canons of 1911 now is (a) Independent Missions, (b) Dependent Missions. Priests-in-charge of the former for a period of five years attain thereby "to the status and possess the canonical rights of instituted Clergy of the Diocese". Priests or Deacons officiating at Dependent Missions are licensed assistant curates of the Mother Church.

When Priv. does not precede Chap., in the first column, the chapel has been publicly declared open to all comers.

To all postal addresses, Scotland should be added; as the Postal Authorities strongly urge the disuse of N.B. as a substitute. To all names of post towns which, in the second column, are printed in italics the name of the county should, according to the Post Office Guide, be added.

P-in-c. is the abbreviation used for Priest-in-charge.

SUCCESSION OF ARCHBISHOPS AND BISHOPS

In the following lists a number prefixed to the name of a bishop indicates the date of his appointment, or, if preceded by a dash, the date of the first known mention of him as bishop of the see or diocese. A number following a name indicates the date of voidance of the see, or, if followed by a dash, the date of the last known mention of the person named as bishop. The cause of voidance was usually death ; where it is known to have been resignation, translation, or deprivation, the fact is stated.

The ENGLISH HYMNAL

THE ENGLISH HYMNAL is not a party book expressing this or that phase of negation or excess, but an attempt to combine in one volume the worthiest expression of all that lies within the Christian creed. The music is intended to be essentially congregational in character, and this end has been kept in view both in the choice of tunes and in the manner of setting them out.

DR. VAUGHAN WILLIAMS has prepared the music, and a committee of eminent Churchmen the words, of the English Hymnal. It preserves in their original form many fine German Chorales, English Traditional Melodies, and Plain-song Melodies.

THE TIMES.—"The book which best deserves to be universally accepted."

SONGS OF PRAISE

A NEW HYMN BOOK prepared by DR. PERCY DEARMER, DR. R. VAUGHAN WILLIAMS, and MR. MARTIN SHAW.

SONGS OF PRAISE has been drawn up on broad national lines, and contains hymns suitable for use in churches, primary or secondary schools, and for public meetings. In addition to those in common use, many new hymns and tunes have been discovered or composed by the editors and their assistants.

SONGS OF PRAISE is intended to be national, in the sense of including a full expression of that faith which is common to the English-speaking peoples of to-day, both in the British Commonwealth and in the United States, to which latter country we owe so many of the best nineteenth-century hymns.

On the day of publication SONGS OF PRAISE was adopted by Liverpool Cathedral and Gray's Inn Chapel.

THE BISHOP OF LIVERPOOL.—"With all my heart I commend to you the hymn book SONGS OF PRAISE. As a collection of hymns of the Father and of the Holy Spirit you will find it unequalled."

The Resurrection Morn. :: Portion of a Memorial Window.

A Memorial Window lasts many centuries. It can either be so beautiful as to be a joy to present and succeeding generations, or so ugly to trained taste that our more artistic successors will only view it with annoyance.

It is, therefore, necessary to find some artist to make a window which will be beautiful for all time, and logically it follows that he must be one whose taste is approved, and honoured even, by the leaders of art of the present day.

The artists of Mr. Thomas William Camm's Studio have exhibited yearly at the Royal Academy, and at the 1911 International Exhibition held at Turin, in Italy (the country of art), secured thrice the highest award of Grand Prix, and were the only Stained Glass Artists, English or Foreign, to obtain this award.

These same artists are prepared to make any Memorial you require. They have an exceptional knowledge of the material in which they are working, having been brought up amongst Stained Glass which the firm has been making for over half a century.

A suggestion for a simple Memorial to a Soldier.

In enquiring for suggestions mention approximate size and shape of windows, and any details which will enable us to suggest suitable subjects.

The cost of a window depends upon firstly the size and secondly the degree and complexity of the figure composition.

Memorials

It costs no more to have your window done by an artist-craftsman of proved ability—but no artist will submit specially-made designs in competition without a fee, as this practice has now become the hall-mark of trade firms offering only the work of inferior and fettered craftsmen.

From the time an artist is commissioned the work becomes a matter of careful study and devotion, so the value of the work is proportionate and not depleted by the cost of fruitless competition.

The best preliminary step is to see exhibition windows at THE STUDIO. The accompanying illustration shows one of these, part of a series from the "Vita Nuova," of Dante.

BISHOPS SUFFRAGAN

EXTRACT FROM LETTER FROM HON. R. A. CROSS, H.M. SECRETARY OF STATE, TO THE LORD ARCHBISHOP OF CANTERBURY, MAY 22, 1874.

"The proper signature to be adopted by the existing Suffragan Bishops, and by any future Suffragans, who may be consecrated under the provisions of the Statute of the 26 Hen. VIII, is that of the Christian name, or one of the Christian names, of the Bishop, followed by the name of his See; for example, 'E. Dover.' The adoption of such a signature appears to the Law Officers to be in accordance with the terms of the Statute, and was in use until the death of Richard, Suffragan Bishop of Dover, in 1597. His form of signature was 'Ri., Dover'. Between the passing of the Act and his death many Suffragan Bishops were consecrated, but subsequently to his death no Suffragan Bishop was appointed under the Act until the consecration of the late Suffragan Bishop of Nottingham in February, 1870. The Law Officers are of opinion that, having regard to the words of the Statute, the clerical status of a Suffragan Bishop depends upon whether he is or is not acting under a commission. Whilst so acting, and within the limits of his jurisdiction as fixed by his commission, his status is probably next to that of the Bishop for whom he is acting. But elsewhere, or when not acting under any commission, he can only rank, according to the date of his consecration, with other persons, whether colonial or others, who have been consecrated to episcopal functions."

With regard to the correct "style and title" of Bishops Suffragan some perplexity exists, which may perhaps be traced to an anonymous paragraph which went the round of the daily papers before the consecration of the first of the modern Suffragans, in 1870, and which, without giving any authority whatsoever, stated that their "style is Right Reverend", that they were formerly addressed as Right Reverend Sir, &c. This is quite contrary to the fact. There is ample documentary evidence that the predecessors of the present Bishops Suffragan were, up to the disuse of their office in the reign of James I, every whit (whether by right or courtesy) as much ‡"Lord Bishops" as the Diocesans, Peers of Parliament, whose labours they shared and lightened.

WHITEHALL,
20th July, 1907.

SIR,—A question having been raised as to the style to be adopted in addressing Bishops Suffragan, I am directed by Mr. Gladstone to acquaint you, with reference to the note on page lxvii of CROCKFORD'S CLERICAL DIRECTORY, that in 1870 the Secretary of State was advised by the Law Officers of the Crown that a Bishop Suffragan should be styled "The Right Reverend the Bishop Suffragan of————" and should be addressed as "Right Reverend Sir".

I am, Sir, your obedient Servant,
HENRY CUNYNGHAME.

The Editor, CROCKFORD'S CLERICAL DIRECTORY,
Windsor House, Bream's Buildings, E.C.

‡ The title appears to have been given, and is still given, as one of courtesy, and not of right.

The following interesting remarks on Suffragan and Assistant Bishops were furnished to us by a correspondent who died some years since:

BISHOPS SUFFRAGAN.—Bishops Suffragan (as distinguished from "Suffragan Bishops", every Diocesan Bishop being a "Suffragan" of his metropolitan) are consecrated under the Act 26 Hen. VIII, c. 14, passed to supply the place of Romish Bishops in partibus, who formerly assisted English Diocesans.

Under this Act twenty-six places are named as "the Sees of Bishops Suffragan". To these the Act 51 & 52 Vict. permits additions to be made under Order in Council, also a change of "See" for a Bishop consecrated under one of the older titles. The Diocesan presents two spiritual persons to the Crown. The Crown selects one to be Bishop of a Suffragan See and presents him, by Letters Patent under the Great Seal, to the Archbishop of the Province for consecration.

Until the present generation eighteen consecrations appear to have taken place under the Act. The present Bishop of Dover, consecrated in 1870, is the fourth of that title, his predecessor, Richard Rogers, Dean of Canterbury, and Suffragan to Archbishops Parker, Grindal, and Whitgift, being buried in the Lady Chapel of Canterbury Cathedral. In the Chapter and City records he is usually called "My Lorde of Dover".

Of the Suffragans consecrated in our own time, several have seats in Convocation by virtue of their office as Archdeacon, or Proctor for the Clergy.

A Suffragan holds his commission at the will of any Diocesan, at whose death it lapses. But the lapse or voluntary resignation of such Commission does not affect the "Style, Title, and Dignity" of the Suffragan See to which he was consecrated.

There is no official income necessarily attached to any Suffragan See. For the See of Colchester a temporary endowment has been provided, and there is nothing to prevent the permanent endowment of any such "See" if the funds be forthcoming.

ASSISTANT BISHOPS.—Assistant Bishops in England have no official appointment, title, or position as Bishops "within this Realm". Any commission, special or general, which they may hold is a purely private and personal arrangement between any Diocesan and themselves. At present some of our Home Prelates are thus using the help of Bishops who have retired from Colonial Sees.

 As Bishops Suffragan have no arms as Bishops, the family arms are emblazoned.

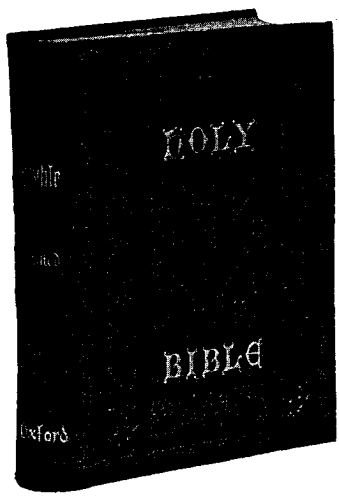
OXFORD PULPIT BIBLES



Oxford Pulpit Bibles are beautiful examples of the arts of printer and bookbinder.

Printed in pica Clarendon type they are rendered legible even where lighting conditions are not of the best, and their robust yet handsome bindings have an economic and aesthetic appeal.

Oxford Pulpit Bibles give wonderfully long service and may be obtained at prices to suit all.

OXFORD BIBLES for everyday use, and OXFORD PRAYER BOOKS—with or without Hymns—may now be obtained in a variety of new bindings

Farris's Sanctuary Lamp Oil.

"OLIVINE"

REGISTERED No. 453508.

The only Guaranteed Pure Vegetable Oil.

Treble Refined, of Exceptional Quality.

8/6 per Gallon.

CHARLES FARRIS calls special attention to "OLIVINE" FOR BURNING IN SANCTUARY LAMPS. This Oil is made entirely from Vegetable Seeds, carefully selected, and treble refined, giving a pure, soft white light during the whole period, any mucilage likely to impair the light being entirely eliminated.

For use with the Floating Wicks or 5 and 8-day Long Wicks.

IMPORTANT. A mistaken notion is very prevalent that when the light in the lamp does not burn well the fault lies with the wick and not the oil. The exact contrary is the case; the wick merely acting as a means of conveying the oil for consumption, any impurity in the oil is carried to the wick (the wick practically being a filter), a crust forms ultimately, causing the light to go out.

Always keep the "Olivine" in the can in which it is sent. On no account transfer it to a store can.
